

BECOME A HUMAN RESOURCE MANAGER

Support the employees within your Property Management Organization

www.neahma.org

How to become a Human Resource Manager

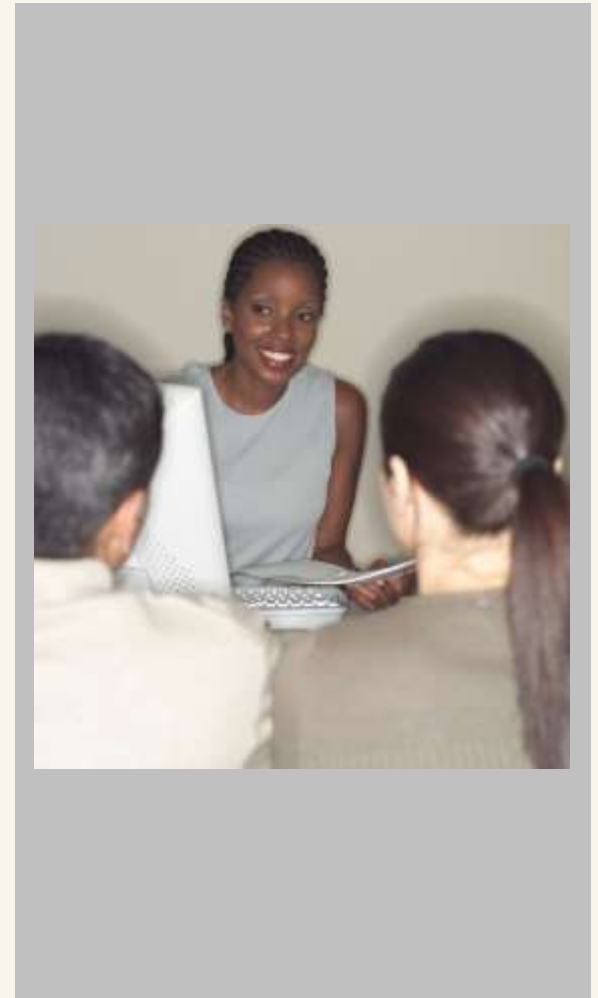

- A combination of education and several years of related work experience are required
- Bachelor's degree or Master degree
- Candidates should have strong interpersonal skills.

WHAT DO YOU DO?

- Human resources managers plan, direct, and coordinate the administrative functions of an organization.
- They oversee the recruiting, interviewing, and hiring of new staff; consult with top executives on strategic planning; and serve as a link between an organization's management and its employees.
- Compensation, benefits, and job analysis specialists help conduct an organization's compensation and benefits programs.

WORK ENVIRONMENT

- Human resources managers work full time during regular business hours.
- Some must travel to attend professional meetings or to recruit employees.

Please join us in the rewarding career of Property Management