

Opportunity for PHAs and Section 8 Properties to Get Free Training and Consultations on Pest Management

Through an IAA with USDA, OLHCHH/HUD has been funding Integrated Pest Management (IPM) training for housing providers, particularly PHAs and Section 8 properties. The Northeastern IPM Center at Cornell University has been working with us since 2007 and has an effective program with impressive results.

Download the Training Opportunity Flyer here:

<http://www.neahma.org/wp-content/uploads/Stop-Pests-Training-Opportunity-Flyer.pdf>

Program consists of:

- IPM resources for multifamily housing—the well-vetted resources on StopPests.org are available to everyone. The intended audience is affordable housing. Public health and pest management professionals who work in housing use them too.
- IPM consultation and training—the Northeast IPM Center is funded to speak at conferences, lead webinars, and run trainings across the country. Their popular consultation and training program consists of a StopPests Consultant coaching a pilot site through the steps it takes to implement IPM. Part of that process is an on-site training at the pilot property.

The program is free to any housing authority or property manager/owner working with HUD funds!

Let me know if you have any questions on the program.

Martin Nee, Division Director, Regional Management and Technical Services
Office of Lead Hazard Control and Healthy Homes
Boston Telephone 617-994-8372
Cell 617-821-4601